

As the pharmacy benefit manager (PBM) for the Department of Defense and TRICARE® beneficiaries, Express Scripts is proud to support military organizations in many ways. Recently, several events involved the Military Officers Association of America (MOAA) and the Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve (ESGR).

Express Scripts employees Sigal Dor, director-project management and Queanna Jones, senior manager, client contract, represented the company at the Greater St. Louis Chapter of the Military Officers Association of America on Saturday, January 21st. The luncheon meeting was held at Syberg's in Maryland Heights, Missouri. About 40 people attended the meeting to learn more about the TRICARE Pharmacy Benefit.

On Saturday, February 4th, 2012, Express Scripts Human Resources recruiter, Tammy Brice, visited the Naval Operation Support Center (NOSC) near Lambert airport for an Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve (ESGR) Employment Initiative Program to assist over 90 job seekers from the Navy Reserve. The program included assistance with resume review and mock interviewing. The event also offered presentations on resume building, targeting employers, dress for success pointers, and do's and don'ts of interviewing.

One of the most interesting topics included available databases that can assist military job seekers in translating military job experience into civilian language that companies can identify with for open positions. ESGR expects an influx of many more guard, reserve, and returning active military job seekers in the market this year. This was a great opportunity for Express Scripts to show its support of our troops and learn more about the excellent potential for matching military job seekers with job openings at the company.

Express Scripts participated in a luncheon meeting on Saturday, February 18, which was organized by the Greater St. Louis Chapter of the Military Officers Association of America (MOAA). Express Scripts vice president and general manager-product management, Medicare/Medicaid, Brit Pim, was the featured speaker, covering the complicated subject of Medicare and Healthcare Reform.
