9th Annual USO of Missouri's Armed Forces Salute

Express Scripts recently donated $2,500 to the USO of Missouri's 9th Annual Armed Forces Salute. The event took place on Thursday, March 7 at the Hyatt Regency in St. Louis, Missouri. The annual dinner honors local military heroes, who are selected by their peers for their extraordinary bravery, loyalty and heroism. This year the USO honored 13 military members with representation for all five United States military branches.

The featured guest and Master of Ceremonies for the evening was David James Elliot, star of CBS television drama, JAG and music was provided by the United States Air Force Band of Mid-America. Several Express Scripts employees attended the event, including Tom Jenkins, senior director, Client Contracts and wife, Sarah, Richard Hauser, assistant general counsel and wife, Glenda, Frederick Webb, director, IT and wife, Rhonda and David Zucker, director, Client Contracting and his wife, Debbie.

Mr. Hauser stated, "It was a very inspiring to see our men and women in uniform honored by the USO for their outstanding achievements in service to our country. Everyone at Express Scripts should be proud that their company helps sponsor the exceptional work of the USO." Since 1981, the USO of Missouri's mission is to lift the spirits of America's troops and their families by providing a "touch of home" through their facilities, services and family events.
